TESTAMENT

It has come to my attention lately
That it might actually be better if I write my own obituary.
I am at the age when some folks dear to me are passing
And quite frankly some of their obituaries
Submitted with their high school graduation pictures
Render them nearly unrecognizable.
I am sorry
But birth and death dates plus a listing of educational degrees
Together with church memberships and club affiliations
Simply do not define a life.
Better to write: She was the one we could always count on.
Or: He would do anything to help a friend.
Or: Hers was the opinion we valued most.
So, for the record,
Here is my obituary:
While she was here, she tried to make a difference.
Now it will be up to you.
